Living Large

Humour by Steve Galea

If you look around town these days you'll see many youngsters and a few older people moving quickly down the roads and sidewalks on skateboards. Rest assured anyone older than 17 stepped on the board accidentally and is going for an unplanned ride.

If you roll down your car window you can even hear the screaming.

I only mention this because the plan to improve our skateboard park should mean that we will see more of this high quality entertainment.

That's because teenagers are genetically predisposed to drop their things where oblivious adults will step on them.

If you find yourself accidentally rolling down a hill at 90 miles per hour, however, all is not lost.

Here are a few pointers to make the most of it.

1. Look cool. If you have a set of sunglasses, now is the time to put them on. Not only do they make you look cool, they hide the tears.
2. Pull your pants down so your underwear is halfway exposed. I'm not sure why kids do this but I suspect this is a handy trick for adults. If the elastic is gone from your underwear, you can at least try to use it as a parachute just like the drag racers do.
3. Say hello to everyone in town at once. We all know that one of the minor issues with going to town is that you spend a lot of time saying hello to everyone. Luckily, if you are speeding by everyone on a skateboard, you can do this in five seconds flat. This will give you plenty of time after the crash to do whatever it is you need to do.
4. Stop and smell the roses. Even though we live in a small town, most of us lead busy lives. Luckily, an incident like this slows you down so you can smell the roses – provided, of course, it was a rose bush you landed in.
5. Meet your medical professionals. On the bright side, an incident like this will allow you to meet medical professionals from paramedics and nurses to emergency room doctors and orthopedic surgeons. Enjoy.
6. Never fear anything again. After you survive skateboarding uncontrollably down a Haliburton Hill, you will never fear anything again – except laundering underwear.
7. You'll learn to limbo. This happens naturally when a flatbed truck crosses your path.
8. You'll hit the high notes. Until you've accidentally stepped on a skateboard at the edge of a hill, you really don't know how high your vocal range extends. Lucky you; you get to find out.
9. Remember, you are saving on gas.

All-candidates meeting at Pinestone Sept. 21

All of the candidates to represent Haliburton County on the national stage have confirmed attendance at the first debate in the Highlands to take place Monday, Sept. 21.

Jim Blake will moderate the discussion involving candidates William MacCallum (Green Party), David Marquis (Liberal), Mike Perry (NDP) and Jamie Schmale (Conservative) in the ballroom at Pinestone Resort and Conference Centre from 7 to 9 p.m.

The local chapter of CARP is hosting the event in co-operation with the chamber of commerce.

CARP president Bob Stinson said his organization will submit six questions to the candidates and that anyone from the community who wants to pose a question is welcome to do so.

Attendees can submit questions ahead of time or can pose one at the event.

"We're certainly not aiming this all-candidates meeting in a specific direction," Stinson said, noting that CARP puts in the effort of running the event because it benefits the members to have a chance to meet the candidates.

The event is being sponsored by the Retired Teachers of Ontario.

Highlands East Plein Air Festival on now

By Elizabeth Bate

Sept. 10 was the first day of the annual Highlands East Plein Air Arts Festival.

The festival concludes with a sale of the artists' works at the Lloyd Watson Centre in Wilberforce Sept. 13 from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Organizer Gary Blundell says he has spent many hours this summer advertising the outdoor painting festival to artists and art groups across the province and even into Quebec.

Although the painters may be coming from far and wide, the art will be from right here at home. All the artists participating in the sale will be allowed to display a maximum of six pieces, all which have to have been painted outside and at least three of which had to have been created at this year's festival.

"Half of the work at the show will be created at this year's show," Blundell

said. "It's a reflection of this community."

The art usually ranges in price from $100 to $400 each. A price tag Blundell says isn't prohibitive for entry level collectors or those looking to spruce up their home.

"I think the main thing is that you are able to buy a piece that was made in your backyard," he said. "People want a little piece of art that is representative of where they are."

Only paintings will be featured in the show, although Blundell has said previously that the show might expand to include other types of art in the future.

The plein air artists taking part in the weekend will be required to paint entirely outside, although they are free to choose the location within the community. Blundell has suggested 14 sites the painters might like to try, and hikers are free to explore those sites throughout the weekend in the hopes of running across an artist at work.

"This is their whole raison d'être, to make works outside," Blundell said of the artists.

"It's very Group of Seven," he said. "It is a Canadian tradition."

Almost all the funds from the sale go to the artist themselves with a small percentage going to cover administrative costs for organizing the show.

For more information on the sale, go to highlandseastpleinair.wordpress.com.

The Story Behind Doors Open

The first Doors Open Day (La Journée Portes Ouvertes) took place in France in 1984. The idea soon spread to neighbouring countries, including the Netherlands, Sweden, the Republic of Ireland, Belgium and Scotland. In 1991, these events were united as European Heritage Days at the initiative of the Council of Europe. In 2003, all 48 signatory states of the European Cultural Convention participated in European Heritage Days.

In 2000, the City of Toronto launched the first Doors Open event in North America. In 2002, the Ontario Heritage Trust launched Doors Open Ontario, the first province-wide event of its kind in Canada. The Doors Open concept continues to spread across North America with events now being held in Newfoundland, Alberta, Massachusetts, Western New York State, New York City and Denver.

Every year, Doors Open Ontario attracts large crowds across Ontario. From April to October, residents and visitors are invited to discover first-hand Ontario's hidden heritage treasures, some of which have never been open to the public.

Since the program was launched in 2002, over five million visits have been made to heritage sites participating in this exciting initiative.

Community satisfaction survey helps OPP assess service to Ontarians

A community satisfaction survey is scheduled to start in September in central region to solicit public opinions about the services the Ontario Provincial Police detachments deliver to communities throughout the region.

The community satisfaction survey is a telephone survey that randomly selects members of the public (16 years or older) who live in Ontario. The survey takes about five to seven minutes to complete and is strictly voluntary. Those contacted and willing to participate are asked about issues such as community security, perceptions of crime and youth issues in the community, OPP presence in the community, service delivery and even how the OPP investigates crime and enforces the law.

The information provided by those surveyed is being collected by a research consultant, R.A. Malatest and Associates Ltd. that has been retained by the Ministry of Community Safety and Correctional Services. The information is treated confidentially and the names, telephone numbers, and addresses of those surveyed will not be included in the survey results provided to the OPP.

Once the survey is complete, the results will be used in the OPP Business Action Plan and Annual Report. The information will also be useful in helping OPP's central region set out goals and objectives to improve on the services it delivers to communities across the region. These surveys are done throughout the province on a rotational three year schedule.

The central region detachment surveys will start in September and are expected to be completed by Nov. 30. The Ontario Provincial Police would like to thank those who participate in the community satisfaction survey and who take the time to help the OPP in its vision of safe communities and a secure Ontario.

Free fluoride varnish program to be offered

A major expansion of a free dental program will help reduce the risk of tooth decay in hundreds of kindergarten students in Haliburton County, Northumberland County and the City of Kawartha Lakes.

This coming school year, the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit will offer its fluoride varnish program to all local children enrolled in junior kindergarten (JK) and senior kindergarten (SK). The goal of the program is to combat rates of childhood tooth decay in the region, a problem that typically affects up to 40 per cent of local JK and SK students who are screened by the health unit.

"Tooth decay is one of the most preventable childhood diseases, yet we still see many JK and SK students in the area who suffer from the problem," says Anna Rusak, a health promoter with the HKPR District Health Unit.

Fluoride varnish is a protective coating that is brushed on a child's teeth. The application of fluoride varnish is approved by Health Canada and the Canadian Dental Association, and can help prevent new cavities by making a child's tooth enamel harder. While supporting oral health, fluoride varnish does not replace the need for children to regularly brush their teeth and visit the dentist.

Since 2013, the health unit has offered fluoride varnish applications to children attending local daycares.

Information about the fluoride varnish program will be sent home with kindergarten students in early September. The fluoride varnish program is totally free and voluntary, and will be offered in school. Children who participate in the program will receive two applications of the fluoride varnish per year for the best results, once this fall and again next spring.

The health unit will also continue to provide the fluoride varnish program to local daycares.

People can find out more details about the fluoride varnish program by calling the health unit toll-free at 1-866-888-4577 or visiting www.hkpr.on.ca.

Agnew's General Store

2284 Loop Road

Since 1921, the Agnew family has owned and operated this store at the heart of the hamlet of Wilberforce. Visitors can tour the store from top to bottom, discover the skeletons in the closets and enjoy a frozen treat from Eileen's Ice Cream Parlour.

Barr Residence - Gooderham History and Artifacts Display

9076 County Road 503

Come and take a trip back in time! Ron Barr's private home provides a history of the bustling town that Gooderham once was with pictures of local landmarks, such as Orange Lodge, Gooderham Fair, Barr's Store and the Skyline Dance Hall. Edna Morgan (Hadley), a local resident of the Gooderham area, will share stories of past school days.

Essonville Historic Church

1284 Essonville Line

This church was built in 1888 as an Anglican church, using pine trees located on its site. The leaded-glass windows and bell were brought from England. The church was decommissioned in the late 1960s, but restored by members of the community as a non-denominational church. It offers services twice a year, in August and December.

Gooderham Pioneer Cemetery

1032 Gooderham Street

The Gooderham Pioneer Cemetery contains graves of some of the first settlers in the community, in the area once known as Canada West. The earliest recorded burial is that of George Ridout, in 1880. The readable stones were recorded in 1991 and are included in the Haliburton Highlands Genealogy Group's recently published book Pioneer Cemeteries.

Gooderham United Church

10744 County Road 503

The first church on this site was an 1874 Methodist Mission. In 1894, pioneer Solomon Hadley donated the property and the present structure was built of logs cut by J. Hunters's saw mill. With the 1925 establishment of the United Church, the church was renamed. In 1963, the building was moved onto a new foundation and a vestibule was added.

Hotspur Schoolhouse

1306 Bryans Road

When the Monck Road went through Hotspur, a school was built (west of the present school). This frame building had benches for seats and a wood-burning stove. The new frame school was built around 1900 and is now a summer house. The interior is covered with beautifully scrolled metallic walls, as was the early 20th-century fashion.

hotspurstudio

1027 Bryans Road

Hotspurstudio is home and studio to artists Gary Blundell and Victoria Ward. It is a 117-year-old log home nestled in the forest of Highlands East. Legend has it that the house, once known as the old Mackie place, used to make and supply moonshine because of its proximity to the railway line.

Hyland Ice Supply

1370 Loop Road

Hyland Ice Supply, a division of Kemcroft Enterprises Ltd., is a manufacturer and distributor of quality packaged ice. The largest family-owned ice company in Ontario with the most modern ice plant in Canada, Hyland Ice was started in 1945 by Mel Croft, who cut ice out of Wilbermere Lake and stored it in sawdust until the following summer.

Kidd Schoolhouse Museum

5373 Loop Road

Walter Kidd built this schoolhouse, the oldest surviving schoolhouse in Cardiff Township, in 1890 to serve the tiny community of Kidd's Corners. After closing in the 1920s, the school later became a hunt camp and then an information booth. It was moved to its current location in 2004 and restored, and reopened as a museum in 2010.

Magnificent Hill

1258 Magnificent Road

Step back in time and experience what it is like to live self-sufficiently. Magnificent Hill is a home and lifestyle where you can learn to develop ways to become as self-sufficient and sustainable as possible. Enjoy the day touring the site, meeting the animals and harvesting fresh chemical-free vegetables to top your pizza – cooked in an outdoor wood-fired oven.

Parquin Lodge and Managed Forest

1155 Parquin Lane

Archibald Parrish and Garnett Quinn-Parrish built this unique log cabin in the mid-1930s over Gooderham Lake near a beautiful forest. They originally planned to open a cottage resort on the site, with the cabin as a dining room and central meeting place for guests. Once completed, however, it became a family cottage and is still in use as such.

St. John Vianney Catholic Church

5408 Loop Road

The property on which this church stands was purchased in 1939 for $45. A cabin was built and mass was held here in July/August of that year. On December 12, 1939, the wooden chapel was blessed by Bishop Denis O'Connor. Over the years, the community donated a restored set of Stations of the Cross and a dinner bell.

St. Margaret's Anglican Church

2319 Loop Road

Celebrating its 95th anniversary in 2015, this simple frame church was originally a lumbermen's bunkhouse. It was moved by horses to its current location. The first service was held in December 1920. Over the years, a new sanctuary, narthex, solid oak furnishings and beautiful stained-glass windows have been added. The original bell still calls people to worship on Sundays.

South Wilberforce United Church

1463 South Wilberforce Road

The original log church that stood on this site was built in Kidd's Corners, then dismantled and moved to its current location, and replaced by this frame structure in 1900-04. A generous bequest provided for a church hall, kitchen and office space. Explore the original handmade pulpit and altar railings, the beautiful high wood ceilings and stained-glass windows.

The House in the Village Bed & Breakfast

2293 Loop Road

This frame house, now a bed and breakfast, was built by Walter Clark for his aging mother. It was one of the first homes built in town near the then-new Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway. As a boarding house, it sheltered teachers, clergy, lumbermen and miners. Some original furnishings are still in use by Clark's descendants and their guests.

Tory Hill United Church (Artech Glassblowing Studios)

18639 Highway 118

Built in 1928, Tory Hill United Church was the centre of this once-busy community. Across from McCue Lake, nestled at the bottom of the hill, this old church has been converted into a private residence and the Artech Glassblowing Studios. Glassblowing demonstrations will take place and the gallery shop will be open.

Village of Cardiff

Drop into the Cardiff Community Centre's open house and learn about the history of this quiet residential community – from the building of the Monck Road, completed in 1873, through the mining boom of the 1950s and early 60s. Long-time residents, through oral histories and artifacts, discuss how the village came to be and its evolution into today's community.

Wilberforce Red Cross Outpost Historic House Museum

2314 Loop Road

In 1922, the Red Cross Outpost Nursing service in Ontario began here. The service spread rapidly and continued for four decades, providing medical aid for numerous rural areas. This public health service program aided in the development of government-supported health care in Canada. In 1992, the outpost reopened as a museum and in 2003 was declared a National Historic Site.

Wilberforce Train Mural

2259 Loop Road (on the side of the Wilberforce Fire Hall)

This beautiful mural, painted by Allen Hilgendorf, is a tribute to the old Wilberforce train station and to soldiers returning from the Second World War. Reg Schofield is shown being joyfully met after being held prisoner near Hong Kong for four years. Seen from any angle, the train always appears to be coming directly at you.

Kawartha Haliburton Victims Services is a free and confidential service for all residents and visitors to the City of Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton. The program is funded by the Ministry of Attorney General through the Victim Justice Fund. They are one of many Victims Service sites across the province.

They provide 24/7 immediate emotional and/or practical support to victims of crime, tragedy and/or disaster, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Their services are provided by specially trained volunteers and staff to all victims of crime including abuse, assaults, domestic violence, rape and sexual violence, elder abuse, criminal harassment, homicide and robbery. They also provide immediate support and referrals to people who have experienced tragic circumstances including sudden death, accidents, natural disasters, fire, and suicide.

Kawartha Haliburton Victim Services is also funded to provide:

The Victim Quick Response Program

The Victim Quick Response Program is free and offers timely financial assistance to recent victims of violent crimes: domestic violence, sexual assault, serious physical assault, homicide, attempted murder and hate crimes. Support available: counselling, funeral expenses, emergency home, transportation, accommodations and meals expenses.

Family Court Support Program

The Family Court Support Program provides free direct support to victims of domestic violence by helping with the understanding of, and passage through, the family court system. They work with other services to ensure clients have access to the supports they need at every stage of the court process by providing support and advocacy in navigating the family court system. This can include safety planning; assistance with recording the history of abuse; accompaniment to family court proceedings where appropriate; debriefing and discussing court outcomes; legal appointments, support in accessing Legal Aid. This program does not offer legal advice and is not intended to replace advice from a lawyer.

Volunteers needed

KHVS is currently looking for volunteers to join their board of directors and is also looking for volunteers to join the front line crisis volunteer team.

Front line crisis volunteers are provided with free on line and in class training which is delivered by the staff of many different local agencies.

Please call 1-800-574-4401 or go to www.victim-services.org for an application.

Kawartha Haliburton Victim Services would like to thank its incredible volunteer team for all of the work and support they have shared with the community.

Astrid Young to bring her music to Minden

By Angelica Ingram

To say Astrid Young is a chameleon when it comes to careers is an understatement.

A singer/songwriter, Astrid has been a professional musician for decades, but has also penned a memoir, made a short film and is a certified wine sommelier.

Born and raised in Toronto, Astrid moved to California in the mid 1980s, where she played in a number of bands and made a lot of records.

"I toured quite a bit down there with some bigger acts and basically got myself ensconced in the music industry," she said.

It was also during her time in California that Astrid developed a deep appreciation for wine, trading Los Angeles for Napa Valley and instruments for grapes.

Astrid however returned to Canada in 2002, to help with her ailing father, and transitioned from wine country in the U.S.A. to Prince Edward County.

"When I moved to the county, coming from Napa Valley and being in the wine business it was interesting because at the time there was only four wineries here," she said. "Since then from four wineries in 2002 there's like 43 now ... it's pretty amazing to see it grow up around me."

Astrid admits music has always been her first love, playing professionally since the age of 12.

The daughter of Canadian journalist Scott Young and half-sister of musician Neil Young, Astrid was encouraged to follow her dreams.

"Based on his success neither of my parents could tell me that it couldn't be done," she said. "Which is the case of a lot of parents growing up, trying to talk their kids out of being a musician."

Astrid has recorded with her brother on several of his albums, along with other musicians such as Lee Harvey Osmond.

Enrolled in music lessons since she was a toddler, Astrid says it was always something that came naturally to her.

"It's not something that I had to choose, it kind of chose me in a way," she said.

The musician is currently on tour promoting her latest album, One Night At Giant Rock, released last year. Described as a style of folk, Astrid admits the record includes many genres.

"Really this record was supposed to be the sum total of everything I've done in my life," she said. "I've played on everything for country records to heavy metal ... I have such a great love for all different styles of music ... I really can't pigeon hole myself into one genre."

Playing a 12-string guitar, Astrid says her style is not your typical singer/songwriter folk sound, and uses the term "acid folk" to more aptly describe it, explaining it has a harder edge to it.

The singer says her style comes from her range of musical influences, which include Kate Bush and Black Sabbath.

Astrid will be playing in Minden with her band and is looking forward to playing in the area for the first time. Bandmates include Matthew Davies (her cousin) on guitar, Matthew King on bass and guitar and Dan Cornelius on drums.

The performance will take place at The Dominion Hotel on Friday, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p.m. For tickets visit www.dominionhotel-pub.ca.

One Book, One Community aims to bring book lovers together

By Elizabeth Bate

September marks a return to school, and as the kids are hitting the books, so too is the county of Haliburton.

Aiming to bring together book-lovers from across the county, the winner of this summer's Haliburton County Reads challenge, Fifth Business by Robertson Davies, has been named this year's One Book, One Community selection. The book was successfully defended by Greg Roe on the program, which aired weekly beginning in July on Canoe FM.

Erin Kernohan-Berning, branch services librarian for Haliburton County Public Library, says this year's One Book, One Community, will begin with some smaller activities designed to bring people together around the book and a love of reading. The events began Sept. 1 and end with a large event at Baked and Battered in Haliburton in December. That event will feature live music and other entertainment.

Kernohan-Berning says although the Canadian book was written in 1970, its themes about the oddities of small town life still ring true; something which may contribute to the book's enduring popularity.

"The other books were a lot newer and I wasn't sure Robertson Davies would be chosen because it's not a new book," she said. "For such a short little book he packs a lot into a sentence."

Kernohan-Berning said the compelling plot twists still have an effect on readers. The library has been having trouble getting enough copies of the book from its suppliers to help with the project, as the popular book is about to get a new reprint. Still selling out runs of the book speaks to its enduring quality, according to Kernohan-Berning.

"Just because a book was written 45 years ago doesn't mean it's not going to stand up to the test of time," she said. "We weren't really sure how popular it was going to be, but all the copies we had have holds on them."

While looking for available copies of the book, Kernohan-Berning picked up used copies at local book stores, and will be using them for a new program as part of the festivities.

Each of the four copies of the book have been labelled with an ID number created through Book Crossing, a tracking service to see where shared books go once they are released into the wild. The books will be left in various locations to be read or taken home for free with the hope that the reader will track their location on the Book Crossing website and leave them somewhere to be borrowed by another reader.

The books don't have to be returned to the library, but Kernohan-Berning said if they make their way home it would be a fun way of seeing how far they got.

"It might be nice if we got them back, just to see where it's been."

She will be tracking them on the website via the ID tags and letting users know where the books get to. Two of the books will be starting at the Dysart and Minden branches of the library and two of them will be starting in cafes in Haliburton and Minden. The books are labelled with explanations of how readers can register their copy's location and what to do with it once they are finished reading all or part of the book.

Other activities will be happening throughout the fall, including a book map available at the library to help readers find books with the same themes as Fifth Business.

"The point of One Book, One Community is getting everyone to read the same book," said Kernohan-Berning who hopes readers will discuss the book while engaged in other non-book related activities, in line at the grocery store or around the water cooler at work. "But also the point of One Book, One Community is just getting people to read."

The book map will let readers explore other titles available at the library and discover great literature, as well some lighter reads.

The map this year is special because it also features all the books that were competitors in Haliburton County Reads.

"All of the Haliburton County Reads books ended up on the map in some way."

Planning is continuing for the One Book, One Community events and more updates will be released throughout the fall. Drop into a Haliburton County Public Library branch for more information or check out the library's website.
